

Electrify your fleet with InCharge. Get our best rates with AEPA.

The Association of Educational Purchasing Agencies (AEPA) is a multi-state non-profit organization made up of Educational Service Agencies / political subdivisions organized through a Memorandum of Understanding between all participating states. AEPA currently represents 29 member states who competitively bid on contracts that are tailored to meet each state's specific legal requirements. The primary customer base is K-12 schools, but many members extend their contracts to higher education, municipalities, and non-profit organizations. InCharge Energy's contract with AEPA allows for the turnkey installation of electric vehicle charging infrastructure, including site analysis and roadmapping, project planning and material selection, installation/project management/commissioning, and ongoing support, maintenance, and guaranteed uptime for all participating member states.
